Dr. Kent Brantly lived in Liberia as a medical missionary with his wife, Amber, and 2 young children. He was among the first to treat patients infected with Ebola, contracted the deadly virus himself, and miraculously survived! He became the first American to return to the United States to be treated for the disease. He was honored as one of TIME magazine's 2014 Person of the Year - The Ebola Fighters. He's been interviewed by NBC, ABC, Fox, People, Time magazine, and more! This is a rare opportunity you won't want to miss!
